'Experts' From N. Y. Lashed By School Board

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Little Rock School Board said yesterday that two New York educators knew nothing of the tense situation which resulted from racial integration at Central High School.

In a brief filed in U.S. District Court, the board said testimony by Virgil Rogers of Syracuse University and David Sallen of Long Beach, N.Y., that they could cure integration troubles in the school "borders on the preposterous."

Rogers and Sallen, a public school superintendent, were the only witnesses to testify against the school board's petition for a 2½-year delay in integration during last week's hearings before Judge Harry J. Lemley.

Lemley took the case under advisement and told both sides they could file briefs. Attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which is opposing the delay, have not filed a brief.

The board's brief said Rogers and Sallen "knew nothing of the temper of the mobs... never have they experienced the difficulties of operating a school surrounded by mobs... and threatened with dynamiting."

Injunctions were not sought against racial agitators as in the Clinton, Tenn., and Hoxie, Ark., race disturbances, the board said, because the situations were not similar. At Clinton and Hoxie there were only a few agitators while in Little Rock, the brief said, "the agitators were numerous, well-organized, adequately financed (and) at times their work was invisible."

Furthermore, the brief added, "the members of the mob have not been punished... (they) have been publicly told that they will not be prosecuted."

The board added that the testimony of Rogers and Sallen was "continued on Page Two"

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board today announced that May brought the first upturn in the nation's industrial production since June of last year.

"Economic activity firmed in May following eight months of decline," the board reported in its monthly summary of business conditions.

The index of industrial production moved up one point from April to 127 per cent of the 1947-49 average. It still was 18 points below the level of last August and 20 points below the all-time high of December 1956.

The board's summary suggested that the May improvement in business activity has continued in early June. It said:

"Industrial production, employment and incomes edged up, and retail sales were maintained."

"Unemployment declined more than seasonally."

"From early May to early June, average wholesale prices of industrial commodities were stable, while prices of farm products declined. Total bank credit continued to expand."

Weather May Be Wet in The Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More wet weather, as the damp prospect for nearly all sections of the country today and Midwest areas Thursday and during the night. Warnings of tornadoes and severe weather were posted in sections of Kansas, Missouri and Illinois.

A small tornado struck La Center, Ky., near the Illinois border, injuring three members of one family and damaging several homes. Several funnels were reported in eastern Kansas and Missouri.

Heaviest rains pelted areas from northeastern Missouri and eastern Iowa eastward to central Illinois with rain measuring up to about 1½ inches. Rain also fell in the flood area of Indiana and possible heavy falls during the weekend threatened serious floods along the Wabash River.

Showers and thunderstorms were general across the northern tier of states from Washington and Oregon eastward to the upper Great Lakes. Isolated thunderstorms hit areas in Texas and showers and thunderstorms were reported in southern Florida.

The Weather Bureau forecast showers and thunderstorms for nearly all parts of the country during the day and night.

It was warm and humid from Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas eastward to the south Atlantic Coast.

Arkansas Teacher Turnover 16%

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Education Commissioner Arch Ford said yesterday there was a 16.9 per cent turnover in teacher personnel in Arkansas during the 1956-57 school year.

He said figures for last year would not be computed until this fall. He predicted turnover would be about 9 per cent.

The turnover involves teachers leaving the school systems and those coming in for the first time.

The 1956-57 year was the first time the state had made an accurate count, he said.

Creation of New Aviation Agency Asked by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today asked Congress to create a new federal aviation agency in an effort to avert air collisions in this jet age.

The Senate already is holding hearings on a bill by Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) with the same general objectives. That proposal calls for unifying all air traffic control, both civil and military.

The White House announcement did not mention that measure.

Eisenhower, in a special message, proposed that the existing Civil Aeronautics Administration be abolished and that its functions be absorbed by the new agency.

"Recent mid-air collisions of aircraft, occasioning tragic losses of human life, have emphasized the need for a system of air traffic management which will prevent, within the limits of human ingenuity, a recurrence of such accidents," Eisenhower said.

The President recommended that the proposed new agency, "be given full and paramount authority over the use by aircraft of air space over the United States and its territories, except in circumstances of military emergency or urgent military necessity."

Eisenhower asked for enactment of legislation at this session and at the earliest practicable date.

He proposed that the new federal aviation agency be headed by an administrator assisted by a deputy. Both officials would be appointed by the President, subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Eisenhower said he had intended to wait until early next year to recommend creation of a new agency.

But he added that a recent air collision in Maryland, taking a dozen lives, has made the need for action urgent.

Eisenhower also called what he termed a "shock over shock over shock" civil air disaster in history. He referred to the collision of two commercial airliners over the Grand Canyon June 30, 1956. That crash took 128 lives.

WATER, A VALUABLE RESOURCE—The direct connection between population increase and growing water shortages is strikingly shown in maps above, prepared from projections of the U.S. Census Bureau and Geological Survey data. Two areas in particular, the Midwest and Southwest, are expected to feel the pinch increasingly, warns the Population Reference Bureau. In 1900, the per capita daily consumption of water (amount used divided by population) was 530 gallons. In 1950, it was 1,340. By 1970, it is expected to climb to 1,947 gallons.

Decrease in Auto Deaths in State

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The traffic toll in Arkansas continues to show a decrease from last year, State Police reported today.

Last month 24 persons were killed in accidents on the highways compared to 25 in May 1957.

In the first six months of 1958 a total of 143 persons died. There were 205 fatalities in the first half of 1957.

Economic Recession Hasn't Affected Arkansas as Much As the Rest of the Nation

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—

"The economic recession has been less severe in Arkansas than in most other areas of the nation, the Arkansas Business Bulletin said today."

It reported that income has sagged only about five per cent, wages and cash receipts are holding up well and retail sales are slightly less than a year ago.

Industrial consumption of electric power is a little ahead of last year the bulletin said.

"All in all, business in Arkansas got off to a good start in 1958," the University of Arkansas agency said.

Its figures showed that non-agricultural employment in the state was 1.1 per cent higher in the first quarter of 1958 than in the corresponding period of 1957.

Manufacturing employment dipped 1.7 per cent during the period, but non-manufacturing employment was up 2.1 per cent.

"It is quite possible that higher wage rates made up for both the decline in numbers employed and shorter working hours," the bulletin said.

Arkansas farmers did fairly well in the first quarter of 1958, statistics indicated. They sold a larger volume of crops than in the comparable quarter last year.

Other findings by the Business Bulletin:

Arkansans apparently purchased fewer goods subject to sales tax in the first quarter of 1958. Sales tax collections were down 5.6 per cent from 1957.

Retail sales in northwest Arkansas during 1958 so far are ahead of last year.

Little Rock department store sales are 4.1 per cent above the corresponding first quarter of 1957. But similar sales at Fort Smith declined 8.1 per cent.

State gasoline and cigarette tax collections have increased.

Savings in the state climbed 14.7 per cent in the first quarter of 1958 compared to the corresponding 1957 quarter.

Construction activity definitely is on the increase. So is extraction of timber and other natural resources.

Construction will probably start this fall. The project was started some 10 years ago.

McClellan Says Labor Bill May Be Wrecked

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John K. McClellan (D-Ark.) told Senate colleagues today they might wreck the labor control bill if they land it with controversial amendments.

The chairman of the Labor-Management Investigating Committee said to those seeking even tighter controls, "We can land this bill down with things I favor and others favor — and we'll get no legislation at all."

He said the Senate Labor Committee had made 22 changes in its original bill in line with suggestions he made, or favored and the pending measure should be enacted to make sure "we have made some progress."

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) called for plugging more loopholes in line with suggestions McClellan has made for tightening union controls.

As the Senate plugged away in the second day of debate, 44 new amendments, mostly offered by Republicans, put in their appearance. Eighteen represented a package of Eisenhower administration proposals, offered by Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.). Some covered major efforts to rewrite the bill to put in more stringent provisions.

Harriman Calls Gov. Faubus A Quisling

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman called Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus a "quisling" Thursday night at ceremonies honoring the nine Negro students who enrolled at Little Rock's Central High School.

"The name of Faubus will go down in history with 'lynch' and 'quisling' as a man who failed to do his duty and use his office to uphold the public interest," Harriman declared.

Vidkun Quisling was a Norwegian traitor during the occupation of his country by the Nazis in World War II.

Harriman, who like Faubus is a Democrat, spoke at a reception sponsored by Local 6, Hotel and Club Employees Union. The local presented the nine students a race relations award and contributed $500 to a fund for their education.

The New York governor deplored Faubus' use of National Guardsmen to try to keep Negro students out of the Little Rock school. He said Faubus' actions were un-American.

One of the students, Ernest Green, who graduated from Central High, spoke for the group. He thanked the people of New York for their support. But he added: "We found out that we did have some friends in Central High School."

Eight students flew here from Little Rock accompanied by Mrs. L. C. Bales, president of the Arkansas branch of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

They were met at La Guardia Field by the ninth student, Minnie Minn.

President Has No Intention in Firing Adams

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today President Eisenhower has no intention of firing Sherman Adams, his chief aide who is a target of House investigators.

At the same time, press secretary James C. Hingerly said there will be no White House reply to an earlier question by a reporter as to whether Adams' good friend, industrialist Bernard Goldfine, once gave Adams a $700 coat.

Hingerly also said Adams has rejected reporters' request for a news conference at which to question him personally regarding his relations with Goldfine.

The affair had prompted Rep. Walter F. Mark Jr. (D-Ill.) to say Eisenhower should fire Adams, Mack said that would be in keeping with an Eisenhower campaign pledge for a government "clean as a hound's tooth."

At a news conference Thursday, Hingerly was asked whether Goldfine ever gave Adams a $700 vicuna coat. The press secretary replied he had no information on that, but would check.

When the matter was raised again at his news conference today, Hingerly said Adams had set forth his position in his letter Thursday to Rep. Owen Harris (D-Ark.), chairman of a House investigating subcommittee, and Adams would have nothing more to say.

The Adams letter to Harris did not deal with any question about a coat.

Hingerly was asked whether Adams and the White House are taking the position that the question of whether Adams got such a coat is none of the public's business.

10% Pay Hike For Federal Workers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed today a compromise bill giving a 10 per cent pay boost to the government's 1,021,000 civil service and other employees.

Action came by voice vote, adoption of a report agreed upon Thursday adjusting Senate and House differences over the legislation.

With the House in recess until Monday, final congressional action was put off until next week.

The bill's annual cost is about $42 million dollars. But the first year cost will be closer to $60 million dollars since the boost is retroactive to Jan. 1.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) said the bill will give all employees equal treatment. Sen. Ralph Yarborough (D-Tex.) said the pay increase was modest compared to those given workers in private industry.

But Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) said it was "very bad policy" to grant retroactive pay increases. And Sen. Frank Lausche (D-Ohio) said Congress was contributing to inflation and setting a pay raise example for private industry.

The bill covers not only regular classified civil service employees, but also employees of Congress, federal courts, foreign service, Atomic Energy Commission, and Veterans Administration medical service. Postal workers previously were given a 10 per cent raise.

The bill covers not only regular new super-grade jobs. These pay from $13,000 to $19,000.

It also gives the full 10 per cent raise to 87,000 scientists and engineers who had recently received raises because they were in hard-to-hire categories.

Carter Will Try to Soak Up German

NEW YORK (AP)—For 13 months, Harold Carter has been soaking up Nietzsche, Schopenhauer and Voltaire. Tonight at Madison Square Garden he samples a little Besmanoff.

Besmanoff comes under the heading of "required work" for Carter, who once was a ranking heavyweight contender, Nietzsche and his stable were read work for the mind.

Will Besmanoff is a German strongboy. A stocky 5-9 1/2. With came to this country just about the time Carter disappeared into the Army in early 1957. Ring magazine now lists the Teuton No. 9 among the challengers of Floyd Patterson.

Carter, 24, hasn't fought since Jan. 11, 1957 when he took a unanimous decision over Bob Baker. Now he is back from the Army anxious to start climbing.

The deep thinker from Linden, N. J., turned up Tuesday at the Garden for a press luncheon, carrying a volume of Arabic poetry by Kahil Gibran. Immediately he started quoting long passages. He also explained that he is a Sunday School teacher and a "seeker of silences."

Before his career took such a bookish turn, Carter was a pretty fair right-hand puncher. He may still be. Besmanoff should be an adequate test in their 10-round match. Carter is a heavy favorite.

Carter has a 22-2-2 record. Tonight's match will be carried on network (NBC) radio and television, starting at 9 p.m. (est.).

Fans Wonder What's Matter With Willie

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—What's happened to Willie Mays? That's what San Francisco baseball fans ask. And they don't wonder about it any more than Willie himself. He has been through a long six-day slump with only one single—of the infield variety—in 23 times at bat.

Willie's hot hitting streak that put him at the top of the National League batting race ended abruptly last Saturday against the Cincinnati Redlegs.

The night before he had opened with a 400-foot home run and added two singles in his three official times at bat.

That gave him the batting lead at 433 through his surge of 17 hits in 27 times at bat.

Then the touch vanished. Willie dropped to 393 and behind Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals again.

"I just don't know," Mays says of his batting doldrums. "I don't know."

As Willie goes, so go the Giants, and the club finds itself in its worst slump since starting shoot on the West Coast April 15.

San Francisco, opening a series against Philadelphia here tonight, has (1) lost five straight, (2) dropped 12 of its last 16 and (3) fallen 1 1/2 games behind the National League pace of the Milwaukee Braves.

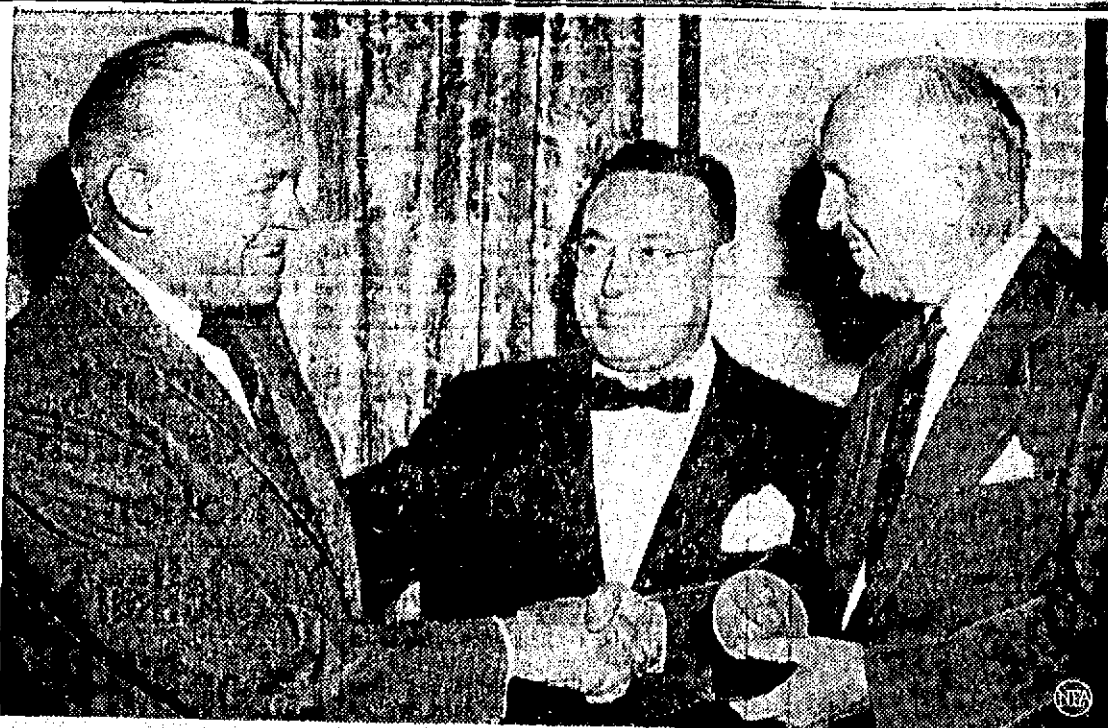

Thursday Pittsburgh beat the Giants 2-1 and Mays contributed one of his few fielding errors. It led to the first Pirate run.

CHAPTER 35

It was exactly 10 the next morning when the secretary again ushered me in to see the dictator of the Montecarlo Republic.

There was a subtle difference in his attitude. He was beginning to think that they had been wrong. I had said that I was there to find a manuscript. I had apparently found it and was now leaving. There had been nothing in any of the reports to indicate that I was interested in Moreno, except perhaps that I had once been with the sister of the rebel in prison. But she was a pretty girl and that was understandable.

I showed him the manuscript, commenting on the fact that someone had put a cover on it. He looked through it, feeling the paper and peering at the script.

"It is certainly very old," he said. "Perhaps it is what it seems to be. I am almost sorry that I gave you permission to take it away. But I did not think you would really find it."

"I am flying back today with Señor Perrola," I said.

"Yes, I know," he said. "Come. I will show you the rest of my museum."

I followed him to the other room, glancing at my watch. It was 10:15. I held the manuscript firmly beneath my arm.

He started at the front and began to work back, showing me the things in the cases. Most of them were personal, meaningless things.

Then the door opened and there was the secretary. "I am sorry, Generalissimo," he said. "but there is a phone call from General Hodges. I knew you'd want to take it."

The old man had started to frown at the interruption, but the name cleared the frown away. "You will excuse me, Señor March," he said.

The secretary obviously wasn't going to leave. He walked back to join me. I saw him glance at the table where the Moreno manuscript was and a worried look came over his face.

"This table," he said, walking over to it. "contains things which have been threats against the Generalissimo." As he reached it, he casually turned the Moreno manuscript over so that the title wouldn't show.

"Yes," I said casually. I moved down until I was standing beside him. "The Generalissimo told me about them the other day." I leaned forward to peer at one of the glass doors. There was a large gold cup back of it. "What is that?"

The secretary seemed relieved at having the conversation move away from the table. He went to the glass case with alacrity and opened the door.

It took three seconds as he reached for the door. I took the manuscript from beneath my arm and exchanged it for the one on the table. I tucked the new manuscript under my arm with the title next to my body. Then I was over beside the glass as he took the cup from the case.

"The Generalissimo won this cup at the International Forces Show 10 years ago," he said. "He held it up for my examination."

During the next few minutes the secretary droned on and on about the things in the museum, but I barely heard him. I merely made the proper sounds of awe whenever he stopped. I wanted to get out of there more than I'd ever wanted anything else in my life. I felt like starting to run. Instead, I followed him around made noises.

"I believe that is everything," the secretary finally said.

Just then the dictator came back. My mouth was dry as he entered the room. His gaze more slowly swept idly around the room and came back to me.

"That was the commandant of the military school," my youngest son uttered. "He said, 'He called to tell me what excellent progress Rafael is making. I am pleased. Did Leonardo show you the rest of the museum?'"

"Everything," I said. "This is certainly a great monument to your life and work."

I resisted the impulse to run and walked slowly out of the place with him. In the corridor he went one way. I went the other. I went out past numerous guards, holding my breath as I passed each one. I reached Luis and the car feeling weak.

"The first thing I did was to get in the back, unfasten my suitcase and put the manuscript inside."

"Perrola is going to fly me back," I told Luis. "So this is our goodbye." I pulled out some money and separated $25. "Here is your pay for today, Luis, and a bonus. I suggest that you consider yourself working for me for at least another day. It is true, of course, that you might find some things you would pay more for the things you could say, but I don't advise it."

"Don't worry, my friend and patron," he said reproachfully. "I would do such a thing to you."

The plane was already out on the field, the motors idling when we arrived. Perrola and I climbed into the plane and Perrola nodded through the windshield to the man. A moment later he pushed the throttle forward and the big plane started rolling across the field, picking up speed.

The U.S. Customs men were none thorough than those in the Montecarlo Republic. They found the guns, but I had a permit. I got into a small argument about the manuscript because it was written in Spanish, but Dr. Moreno's address was New York University on the island. Perrola was with another inspector and didn't hear any of this.

John Brown, who transferred to the New Lincoln School here after she was involved in racial incidents at Central High and expelled last February.

The nine are to be guests of Mayor Robert F. Wagner at City Hall today.

At Little Rock, Faubus replied to Harriman by charging that "Harriman's speech is the first such statement which will be used along with left wing Eastern newspapers and magazines in a propaganda campaign that will become an avalanche before election day in Arkansas July 2."

Faubus is a candidate for a third term nomination July 29.

The Arkansas governor added "Harriman called me a quisling. Who was Quisling? He was a traitor in Norway who worked with the Nazi occupation forces in World War II. I would like to point out that I was working against the occupation forces in Arkansas, but I am not among their number."

Accident Claims Second Victim

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Richard Eugene Miesse, 52, of Little Rock, died yesterday of injuries suffered in a highway collision in which his wife was killed instantly.

Robert McMullen, 26, of Route 2, Lonoke, whose automobile collided with that of Mr. and Mrs. Miesse, was injured seriously. He is at a Little Rock hospital.

The collision occurred on Highway 70 about four miles east of North Little Rock yesterday morning.

Survivors of Mrs. Miesse include her father, J. C. Perkins Sr., who is district engineer for the state. Highway Department at Jonesboro, and two brothers, J. C. Perkins Jr. of Harrison and Hurley H. Perkins of Fort Smith. She was 48.

Jack Dorris, secretary of Local 529 of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, said the members voted to "heartily endorse the Hon. Orval E. Faubus for our next governor."

Faubus was criticized several weeks ago in a resolution adopted by the Committee on Political Education, an arm of the AFL-CIO State Federated Labor Council. The resolution declared Faubus forfeited labor's support.

Most paper used for U. S. bank notes and bonds is produced in Dalton, Mass.

Faubus Knows Nothing of Eastland Plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus said yesterday he knew nothing about a report that Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) planned to time a Senate hearing so it would benefit Faubus' bid for reelection.

Washington columnist Drew Pearson reported in his column Tuesday that Eastland planned to call Mr. and Mrs. Lee Loreh of Little Rock before the Senate Internal Security Committee shortly before the Arkansas Democratic primary July 29.

Pearson said Faubus had tried to label the Lorehs as Communists in connection with violence at Central High School when it was integrated last fall.

The columnist said Eastland planned to call them before the Senate group to strengthen Faubus' bid for a third term.

The governor said he had never met Eastland. "And besides, I hope I don't need any help outside the Arkansas voters," he added.

Yesterday afternoon Faubus met privately with the Rev. Wesley Pridgen, president of the Capital Citizens Council. He declined to discuss the meeting except to say, "I think they (the Citizens Council) are going to support me."

Youth 17, Pleads Guilty to Murder

NEW YORK (AP)—A 17-year-old boy pleaded guilty Thursday to second degree murder in the shooting of his mother.

By entering the plea, John J. Jesup of Brooklyn, escaped the possibility of the electric chair.

No date was set for the sentencing. 20 years to life in prison. Jesup argued with his mother, Gladys, 38, over his using the telephone to call a girl friend last Sept. 27. Later he shot his mother in the back of the head as she passed along a hallway outside the bedroom where he and a chum were examining his collection of hunting rifles.

The Dead Sea in Palestine is the saltiest body of water on earth. Second place is held by Great Salt Lake in northern Utah.

Meet to Be
Fact-Finding Mission

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—A flying trip by Secretary of State Dulles to confer with Premier Charles de Gaulle in Paris next month is planned primarily as a two-way fact finding mission.

Officials said today the meeting will give Dulles an opportunity to learn at first hand De Gaulle's views on a whole range of problems from the continuing crisis in North Africa to the possible summit conference.

It also will give De Gaulle a chance to find out what kind of United States cooperation and support he can expect in carrying through his program.

The State Department said Wednesday that Dulles would fly to Paris on July 5 and be back here in time to go with President Eisenhower on a visit to Ottawa three days later.

Possibly one of the most difficult problems which De Gaulle will face is that of cooperation between France and the United States in the field of atomic weapons development. France has been reported at the point of producing nuclear weapons for test purposes and De Gaulle is believed to be determined to make his country the world's fourth atomic power—along with the United States, Russia and Britain.

He may confront Dulles with a strong request for information sharing between France and the United States to the same extent that this country is able to share its atomic weapons secrets with Britain under legislation now pending in Congress.

There has been considerable opposition at the Capitol to providing France with US weapons know-how, because of possible security problems and of the long record of instability in the French government.

Another problem is to work out an allied policy on suspension of nuclear tests following the present US series of experimental explosions in the Pacific.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is understood to have made it clear once again during his talks with President Eisenhower this week that if Britain is to halt its own testing, it must get information already developed in US tests.

He Got Those Papers Back
The Hard Way

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Calvin T. Crist, a 19-year-old sailor, didn't want to stir up a lot of commotion, he just wanted his wallet back.

He got it back, to, but only after a hectic two hours that involved bus company officials, an airline, a state trooper and police here and in Fort Smith.

Crist told Hot Springs patrolman O. D. Pettis yesterday a man slipped his wallet from him as he sat in a bus station here.

Crist was en route to duty on the USS Ticonderoga at San Francisco, Calif.

Shortly after Crist's bus left for Fort Smith, the next stoping point, Pettis located a man who admitted taking the sailor's wallet.

The problem: how to get the sailor's leave papers, identification and orders to him.

The bus company offered to send them on the next bus. But that wouldn't be fast enough to suit Pettis. He arranged for a Central Air Lines pilot to take the wallet with him on his flight to Fort Smith.

The plane was scheduled to land there a few minutes before Crist's bus was due to pull out. The pilot radioed ahead and arranged for Fort Smith police to have a squad car waiting at the airport with sirens all warmed up for a fast drive to the bus station.

Meanwhile, a state trooper heard the pilot's message just as Crist's bus passed him between here and Fort Smith.

The trooper doubled back, stopped the bus and told Crist not to worry, his wallet and papers would be waiting for him at the Fort

Boy Brings Parents
Back Together

GLENDALF, Calif. (AP)—old Rose and Virginia Rose by the bed of their 5-year-old Donny, as a minister reunites them in marriage.

But it was Donny who reunited them in spirit.

His father was working in Fort Wayne, Ind., when he learned Donny had been struck in the left eye by a fragment of pottery and might lose sight in the eye. The father flew to Los Angeles.

Donald, 32, and Virginia, 37, had been divorced two years. But as they prayed together at Donny's bedside they realized they belonged together.

The boy won a 1,000-to-a chance —an operation was successful and the eye was saved. Thursday night, in his room at Glendale Memorial Hospital, Donny won something else: a father.

Donny's physician, Dr. Orrin Chisler, was the best man. "Donald Sr. is going back to Fort Wayne for his things. Then he'll move here to rebuild his family life."

"We have to stay together," he said. "If anything else comes up, we'll just straighten it out, that's all."

Smith bus station. And they were. Said Crist happily: "You'd think I was an admiral!"

Pentathlon Team Directed by Hope Man

This fall when the U.S. Modern Pentathlon team enters the pistol shooting event at the Pentathlon World Championships in Aldershot, England, it will be backed by the knowledge and experience of a seasoned coach, Master Sgt. T. Messer.

For two hours of each training day, Sgt. Messer works with Pentathlon candidates. Keeping a record of every shot fired, he determines daily progress of the athletes. In order to add variety to practice sessions, inter-squad meets are held weekly.

During practice the 38-year-old soldier demonstrates the quiet, relaxed manner which enables him to win a spot in the All-Army Pistol Team and later coach it for two years.

A native of Hope, Arkansas, Sgt. Messer came to Pentathlon Headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, with an outstanding shooting record dating from 1953. That year he was a member of the Fort Hood Pistol Team, the Fourth US Army Team, and fired in the national matches. In 1954-55 he repeated with these teams and also was chosen for the All-Army Team.

In 1956 he was appointed pistol coach for the All-Army squad. In addition to his coaching duties, he won the 45-caliber pistol fire exercise in the Fourth Army Rifle and Pistol Match.

Sgt. Messer holds the master classification with the National Rifle Association and has one leg on his Distinguished Marksman Badge. Three legs are needed for the honor.

The Arkansas soldier has 10 years of active duty and plans to remain in the Army.

Arkansas GI Is Convicted in Tokyo

TOKYO (AP)—Two U. S. Army men have been convicted of stealing more than $800 worth of military pants, silver badges and musical instruments, the Army said today.
They were Pfc. Charles D. Hood,

DEADLY—Rickey Nelson, just turned 18, is baby-faced and soft-spoken. But in his role of Colorado in "Rio Bravo" he's one of the deadliest two-gun killers in modern moviedom. He knocks off six "baddies"—three of them with one double draw.

THAT'S ME—Pleased as punch, pretty Rosalie Ashley displays a still likeness as she arrives back home in London from Cannes, France. The portrait was done by French artist Jean Gabriel Domergue, who considered the starlet a perfect type of fresh young English beauty. Rosalie is 19.

Each was sentenced to three years in prison, dishonorable discharge and loss of all pay and allowances. The court-martial action is under automatic review. They are being held in the stockade at Camp Drake, near Tokyo.

Bill to Aid Cotton Farmers Is Signed

WASHINGTON (P)—A bill to aid farmers unable to plant their 1958 cotton because of floods or other disasters was signed yesterday by President Eisenhower.
Rep. E. C. Gathings (D-Ark), author of the bill, said that while cotton planting time is over, the

Another Great Talent Search Is Now Over

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (P)—Another great talent search is over. They've found Porgy's goat.

Samuel Goldwyn needed a very special animal for the goat who pulls the cart of the crippled Porgy in the film version of "Porgy and Bess." It had to be strong enough to pull actor Sydney Poitier, have stage presence and not offend the other actors with its aroma.

Clarence Jones, who supplies animals for film makers, came up with 5-year-old Mr. Faust, a husky, deodorized, talented goat. The new actor was located pulling a wagon for children in an Eastern carnival and was shipped here via air.

Why the name? Because Mr. Faust butts like the Devil, say the whimsical studio aides.

At any rate, the goat has a six-month contract and the use of a stand-in. Mr. Faust will be watched closely. No scenery chewing in a Goldwyn picture.
It's ironic that the factor that prolonged Deborah Kerr's marriage helped to sink it in the end. She and Tony Bartley faced problems after the war when she came here as a star. He had nothing to do for a year, since immigration restrictions stopped him from taking a job.

The situation of a famous wife and a nonworking husband has always been a dangerous one in Hollywood. But then, Bartley began to find his own success as a producer of TV films. The trouble was that his career kept him in Africa and England much of the time while Deborah was working here. Hence the draft in their marriage, once considered unbreakable.

Shelley Winters wonders where the money is coming from. Her husband Anthony Franciosa has bill will aid farmers who planted on unauthorized acreage in anticipation of the legislation.

The bill provides that farmers who could not plant allotted acreage because of floods, extensive rains, etc., may move the allotment to some other field in the same or an adjoining county.

Got Medical Degree Just in Time

SOUTH KINGSTON, R.I. (AP)—Sixteen hours after he received a medical degree, Dr. Lawrence S. Higgins, 26, delivered his first baby—quite by chance.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacques H. Dutilleul of Hope Valley were on their way Monday to South County Hospital, Wakefield, when it became evident a doctor was needed in a hurry.

They stopped at Higgins' home and he helped in the delivery of a 7-pound, 15-ounce boy. Mother and son are reported doing fine.

Dr. Higgins, who received his degree from Tufts Medical School, Boston, will begin his internship at Rhode Island Hospital July 1.

Gun Battle Results in Negro's Capture

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Police wounded and captured a 20-year-old Negro here yesterday after a brief gun battle in a residential area.

Capt. Tom Harper said the Negro, Willie Scott, was being sought for questioning about the shooting of his aunt. Harper said Scott ran for a ravine and opened fire when officers tried to take him in custody.

Harper said he shot Scott in the mouth and patrolman Charles Patterson shot him in the shoulder. Scott fired three times with a 22-caliber revolver but hit no one.

He was taken to a hospital here and then to the Ft. Roots Veterans Hospital at North Little Rock. Attendants said his condition was fair.

Police wanted to question Scott about the shooting earlier yesterday of his aunt, Pearl Smith, 30. Officers said she was shot in the knee at her home here after an argument.

been paid for 10 weeks on "The Naked Maja," though the picture hasn't even started yet. The same goes for Ava Gardner. The delay is apparently to find a script that will please Ava.
